

Safety Investigations and Audits

In the event of an incident in the workplace, a thorough investigation assists in determining the cause of the incident and allows for corrective action or solutions to be implemented.

Safety investigations are essential to identifying potential risks and incidents, and preventing the recurrence of incidents by minimising or eliminating any current or future risks.

This interactive course will provide participants with an understanding of the key steps required to investigate an incident in accordance with statutory WHS requirements. In addition ensuring your WHS Management System is compliant will reduce possible costly workplace incidents, therefore the day will also cover the theory and tools required to conduct a safety audit as a part of the WHS Management System.

Participants will have the opportunity to demonstrate their new skills through the use of case studies, and will walk away with tools and templates that can be used back at the workplace immediately.

Who should do this course?

This course has been designed for those employed in a safety role that are responsible for identifying and evaluating current or future risks in the workplace.

Delivery

- Face to face (One day)

What you'll learn

- Understand the key principles of conducting incident investigations in accordance with statutory WHS requirements.
- Learn about contributory and causation factors and how to identify them.
- Evaluate and analyse findings and complete an incident investigation.
- Develop and implement appropriate control measures to prevent recurrence of incidents.
- Understand the costs of an incident and why you would want to prevent them.
- Purpose of an audit and the steps you need to take to conduct one.
- How to prepare an audit report and monitor the implementation of any operational changes.

What you'll take away

When you have successfully completed this course you'll receive a Statement of Attendance.

Customised training for your workplace

This course can be customised to suit the needs of your business and offers a cost effective and efficient solution to develop your workforce, allowing you to embed your existing policies and practices in the training program.

Book now

For more information or to book now please call 1300 572 439 or visit www.abtraining.com.au